

The model acts against its own judgment more often with the pressure in than out, and far below what an explicit order produces

